Our Response to COVID-19 | Open for appointments only

SOUTHEAST, MI – In efforts to help mitigate the spread of COVID-19, Michigan Works! Southeast offices will remain open, however, our services will be delivered through an increased use of technology. Effective immediately, all Michigan Works! Southeast locations are open for appointments only. The number one priority of Michigan Works! Southeast is the safety of our team members, customers, partners and the communities we serve. As a result of COVID-19, we are rapidly changing the way in which we provide services to our customers.

“We understand this is a difficult period for job seekers, businesses and our employees, and it is important that we remain open to serve our customers,” said Bill Sleight, Director of Michigan Works! Southeast. Calling ahead prior to your visit we will be able to provide the best customer service possible in these difficult times while also prioritizing the safety of our team. We should be able to accommodate most customers with a same-day appointment,” Sleight said.

Michigan Works! Southeast is working as efficiently as possible with Michigan Department of Labor and Economic Opportunity to identify services that can be provided through the use of technology and other methods that will allow us to practice social distancing. “We are able to offer most services by phone or via other technology but if you do visit one of our offices, you will be asked to practice social distancing by standing apart from the person to whom you are speaking, sitting across long tables during conversations, or moving into larger rooms for conversations. We are taking necessary sanitary precautions, and are regularly updating our team members on recommendations provided by the Center for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC).” Sleight said.

For updates relating to the way we are providing services, please visit www.mwse.org/COVID-19. Customers can also call their local office to schedule an appointment or for information.
